The reason there was not a larger dif-ference in the score yesterday was be-cause the Cherubs went easy, and de-clined to put up their best work. The Baltimore Athletics are not in con-dition to put up effective ball against the beeks and the same was therefore, con-

locals, and the game was, therefore, con-siderably one-sided, and even Jack Mc-Donough could not work up his accus-tomed enthusiasm.

A stranger could have, by no means, judged of the abilities of the Richmond players, for the chances for brilliant playing were few. The crowd of about two hundred had their fun, however, although there was little excitement.

The visitors could do no better than make it two, one of them a last serson's earned run. In the fourth, McGiann, who played in Virginia in 1894, hit the ball for two bases, and scored on Hill's hit, after two men. Bopst and Crouther, had pinched. Hill got as far as third on Brook's hit, but Payne went out at first, and that ended it.

In the seventh another run was made. Hill singled, swiped second and scored on this wife bad throw down.

STATUE TO ALBERT PIKE.

The Supreme Conneil of the Scottish Rite to Erect One in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 16.-Special. The Supreme Council of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry for the Southern jurisdiction of the Urited States (mother council of the world), whose seat is in the House of the Temple, corner Third and E. streets, in this city, will soon erect a statue of the late Albert Pike, who was grand commander for over thirty years, in one of the parks or triangles and present it to the government.

The bill, providing a suitable site, introduced by Representative Quigs, of New York, has been reported lavorably by the Library Committee, and it will be passed at this session. It is provided that the statue is to cost not less than $10,000, but it is understood that the Masonic Committee, having the work in Accepted Scottish Rite of Freemasonry that the statue is to cost not less than $10,000, but it is understood that the Masonic Committee, having the work in charge, will willingly pay more if it gets just what it wahis in the way of a model or design. Edward V. Valentine has been suggested here as a scuiptor who would be exceptionally well qualined to execute a spiendid figure of the picturesque man of letters and Masonic sage. Mr. Valentine had a personal acquaintance with General Pike, having spent some time in his company when the Grand Cammander paid a Masonic visit to Richmond in 1876.

This will be the first instance of a Masonic monument erected under government auspices. It will also be the first instance of a statue in the national capital pertraying a man who held rank in the Confederate army. But Pike will be represented only in his marine character, of course, as the work is to be the gift of the Supreme Council, which is composed of men of various sympathies and shades of politics.

Albert Pike was the only great scholar in this country who ever devoted his whole time to Freemasonry. This he did during the last eighteen or twenty years of his life. And from 1857, when he was a practicing lawyer, until he gave up his practice early in the seventies, and took up Masonry as a profession, the Scottish Rite was very dear to his heart.

When Pike was elected Grand Commander for life he found the rituals of the degrees from the fourth to the thirty-third meagree and poorly constructed. After years of toil he gave to the Rite mander for life he found the floats of the degrees from the fourth to the thirty-third meagre and poorly constructed. After years of toil he gave to the Rite a callection of scholarly rituals that would have been a monument to his genius had he done no more. But the vast Scottish Rite library contains many volumes from als pen. "The Morals and Dogma," which he gave to Masonry, is a matchless work and is in constant demand in all Masonic communities.

When Pike took the grand commandership there was much reference to philosophy in Masonic lectures and textbooks, but nothing like a philosophic system in Masonry had ever been formulated or attempted. In "The Morals and Dogma" are to be found luminous discussions of abstract truth, profound discussions of politica; problems and marvellous sweeps or oriental wisdom and mystical lore. Yes, Pike placed Freemasonry on a higher intellectual plane than it had ever occupied before and Masonic scholars in Europe and America have gladly accorded him the toremost rank in the world of Masonic letters.

A Terrible Experience. NEW YORK, April 12.—The North Gen nan Lloyd steamer Saale, Captaia Blanke which arrived to-day from Genea, reports that on Sunday she picked up a lifeboat containing two men of the crew of the ship Mariborough, of Windsor, N. The storm continued without cessation until April 4, when, during the height of the gale, the ship went to pieces. The crew attempted to launch the lifeboat, but it was dashed to pieces before it reached the water. There was one other boat. The men went to work making life rafts from the cargo of deals, and on these rafts nine of them left the side of the water-logged vessel. Captain Cochran and four men were the lest to leave in the remaining boat. Shortly after abandoning the Marlborough those in the boat lost sight of the remainder of the crew, as the boat drifted away before the gale.

The report of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations on the Cuban situation was made by Senator Davis, chairman of that committee, and was a very thorough review of the entire situation and a strong presentation of the facts which has led to its conclusions. The report takes up the Maine disaster as the leading topic for consideration and plunges into that question in its first sentence, which is as follows:

"The destruction of the United States."

The destruction of the United States battleship Maine, of two of her officers, and 34 of her crew in the harbor of Havana on the night of February 15, 1898, excited to an unprecendented degree the compassion and resentment of the American people."

The click of the American typewriter

The click of the American typewriter is heard around the world. The tourist finds it turning up in all sorts out-of-the-way corners, from Iceland to Van Dieman's land. With the Dongola and Ashanti expeditions it has penetrated into the heart of the African wilderness; with Lieutenant Peary it has found its way to the Actic regions; the Russian ways to the Actic regions; the Russian ways and the sort it all through Si. government has sent it all through Si-beria; it is to be found in the homes of the missionaries in India. The Czar of Russia has a richly engraved gold-plated, white enamelled, ivory-keyed (spewriter for writing both English and Russian, Queen Victoria has one in her household, and so have the Queen Regent of Spain and the Khedive of Egypt. In the wreck of the battleship Maine was found a of the battleship aims was found atypewriter, and should the Russian Eastof the Telegu language upon a standard keyboard. The typewritten words look like a Chinese laundryman's efforts, a confused mass of curiyeues, spots, points, and assorted crescents. The missionary found his Telegu typewriter so valuabl chines. With them a large portion of the Bible has been distributed in duplicate among the natives.

An English student of Hebrew sent an inquiry to the same company for a Hebrew typewriter. None had ever been made, but a Hebrew keyboard was planned and the order filled. Solvew it must be remembered, is written from right to left and from the bottom of the age to the top. The Hebrew typewriter loyalty and will do their best work, as | they would be made to write from the upper right hand corner to the opposite The German government recently order The German government recently ordered the use of only German letters in the government business. For several years German typewriters with Roman letters have been in use, but to meet the new order a German letter keyboard has been arranged. A change has also his been made in the Greek typewriters. The first Greek typewriter wrote a slanting letter, but a new vertical letter having become much in favor in Athens, an American typewriter company has equipern squadron flagship suddenly sink in the Yellow Sea an American typewriter would be found in the Captain's cabin.

The universal use of the typewriter is due to its easy adaptation to almost any language capable of being printed. Type, writers have been made to write Greek.

ingeniously applied in solving a difficult problem in typewriter construction. An English missionary in India, Dr. Jacob Clamberlain, at Madanapulle, Madras Presidency, wishing to translate the Scriptures for the natives, wrote to any American typewriter company asking if a typewriter could be made to write the Telegu language. He had been using an Telegu language. He had been using an English-writing typewriter, and one day, when it was smashed by plaster feiling in his bungalow, the idea of a Telegu typewriter occurred to him. The Telegu language is peculiar in that every character represents a syllable. The missionary resolved the language into 28 characters, but upon further study found that these characters were build up from a much smaller number of basic forms. These forms were hand out to lead up. These forms were hand cut in India a much smaller number of basic forms. These forms were hand cut in India under the missionary's direction and sent to the typewriter company. With the aid of the dead keys it was found possible to build up all the composite characters ped a machine with this style of type.

King Chulaiongkorn I, of Siam, while travelling in Europe not long ago, first saw the typewriter. He was go interested in the machine that he immediately gave command that a typewriter be added to the equipment of the royal household. The Siamess hanguage had never been written with a typewriter, but an American typewriter company was appealed to and within a short time the King was supplied with a Siamess typewriter. His northern neighbor, the Emperor of China, might use a typewriter if he had one, but until he publishes an imperial decree abolishing 14,000 odd characters of his people's alphabet he will have to content himself, with imperial decree abolishing 14,000 odd characters of his people's alphabet he characters of his people's alphabet he will have to content himself with a brush and inkpot. The Japanese, in their struggle for commercial recognition, are crying for typewriters. Experts are as work unravelling the Japanese language and a Japanese typewriter keyboard will probably result from their study.

The polygiot machine is a recent development of typewriter construction. Business doing a large foreign business houses doing a large foreign business houses doing a large foreign business.

iness houses doing a large foreign business with several countries asked for machines writing several languages. By providing for the accents of the various European languages on one keyboard half a dozen or more languages may be written on one machine. Many type-writers with English-Spanish-French keyboards are shipped to South American countries. The most interesting polyglot machine in the world is one just sent to Pope Leo XIII. for use in the Vatican. Like the one furnished the Czar. it is decorated with gold, Ivory and enamel. The machine writes English, French, Italian, Spanish, Portuguese and German .- New York Sun.
